Karbon™

Unprecedented functionality and ease of use serve as the inspiration for the Karbon articulating faucet's unconventional modern design. You get all the versatile mobility of a pull-down faucet, but unlike many pull-down faucets, the five pivoting joints of Karbon allow you to precisely position the water stream and then have both hands free. This truly unique feature is what sets this faucet apart from other faucets, leaving the user to easily multitask, thereby increasing productivity in the kitchen. Karbon gets its name from the surprisingly lightweight, yet incredibly strong material of which it is predominately comprised. Available in an array of compelling finishes and finish combinations*, Karbon faucet's unique visual allure reinforces contemporary aesthetics. The Karbon articulating faucet by Kohler. One faucet. Infinite possibilities.

Karbon™

The Karbon faucet's five pivoting joints offer limitless flexibility and precise adjustment to height or direction. The sleek joystick can be placed to the left or right of the faucet, offering yet another dimension of control. Intuitively responsive to the touch, the faucet directs the stream or spray function with complete precision, giving you total mastery of the water. By bringing this new level of control, the Karbon faucet changes the very nature of how work gets done in the kitchen.

Simplice®

The Simplicite kitchen sink faucet with pull-down sprayhead exudes an approachable, simple elegance that adapts easily to a wide variety of styles and is equipped with the latest functional features. Extremely versatile, its pull-down sprayhead is easily maneuvered to perform a variety of cleanup tasks. The high-arch spout design provides comfortable clearance for filling and cleaning large pots to improve workflow and efficiency, while sleek, fluid lines make the faucet itself easy to clean.

The three-function pull-down sprayhead, with our exclusive ProMotion® technology*, offers enhanced ergonomics for effortless operation. A pause function on the sprayhead allows users to temporarily halt the flow of water, which is useful for working inside and outside of the basin area.

Evoke™

Offering comprehensive faucetry solutions, the Evoke line includes both primary and secondary kitchen sink faucets that are available with or without pullout sprayheads, all delivering a streamlined, contemporary aesthetic. The entire Evoke faucet offering features spouts that swivel a full 360 degrees, making it easier than ever to direct water exactly where you need it. The three-function sprayhead with ProMotion® technology* is highly maneuverable and has a convenient pause function, allowing users to temporarily halt the flow of water. The Evoke faucet family also includes swing spouts and a two-function sidespray that replicates the performance of a pullout, with spray flow and laminar flow options.

Parq®

Adapting the classic bridge faucet aesthetic for today's modern interiors, the Parq kitchen faucet is available in both deck- and wall-mount configurations. The deck-mount configuration is also available with a line-matched sidespray. The spout can be rotated a full 360 degrees and offers 8½-inch clearance for maximum versatility. While optimized functionality remains at the heart of the Parq faucet, homeowners can choose either lever or tri-handle options for a heightened sense of personalization.

ProMotion® Technology

ProMotion technology from Kohler establishes a new standard in kitchen faucet functionality. Now available on the majority of our pull-down and pullout kitchen faucets, ProMotion technology utilizes a braided nylon hose for smooth, quiet, tangle-free operation. A ball joint swivel is located behind the sprayhead to enhance flexibility and maneuverability, making everyday kitchen tasks less taxing.

Ball joint swivel sprayhead is easy to maneuver and makes everyday kitchen tasks a little less taxing.

Smooth, quiet, tangle-free nylon hose takes the notion of increased functionality to an entirely new level.
