Wireless Listening System

New technology supports differentiated and personalized learning activities. This wireless listening system enhances student choice as it allows them to choose or self-pace their own study. Students can work independently or with a small group by connecting the transmitter to an audio source – multimedia player, computer, tablet, smartphone, iPod® or CD/DVD player.

All three available system frequencies can operate simultaneously without interference within a 100' range, allowing different groups to work on different tasks. Each package includes wireless headphones with a matching color-coded wireless transmitter and the necessary cables to connect the transmitter to an audio source.
