

Explorer™

To successfully achieve new listening and speaking standards, students must be able to clearly hear and understand spoken language. High-fidelity sound for quality voice and music delivery is the hallmark of Explorer headphones. Dynamic, thin Mylar® diaphragm speakers raise the bar for an educational computer headphone. Teachers and librarians depend on the Explorer for monaural use in ELL/ELS programs. These headphones can also be used for stereo sound in gaming and learning centers either for individual or small group use. Windows and MAC compatible.

Titanium™

Becoming proficient at the new ELA standards requires high-performing audio technology. Titanium headphones feature multiple breakthroughs for safety, performance, comfort, and durability. They also include the highest level of ambient noise reduction, which improves speech intelligibility. Built-in volume restriction prevents the sound level from exceeding the ASHA-recommended 85dB limit. Replaceable cords ensure long life for the headphones.
