High-quality audio is required in both classroom and language lab to teach topics ranging from phonics to foreign language acquisition. These all-purpose multimedia player/recorders provide flexibility and durability for differentiated individual or small group instruction as well as for a class of up to 75 people. The Music Maker listening centers can help you maximize essential instruction time. Various sized groups can be accommodated with jackbox and headphone combinations making it ideal for small and larger group instruction.

Involve additional students for wireless listening from the Infrared Music Maker Plus with the HIR-HP1 headphones on page 17
